

Accounting, Auditing, Tax and Advisory Services for Manufacturing Businesses

Manufacturing Business Practice Group: An Overview

No matter what the product focus may be, a manufacturer must constantly “re-tool” in order to survive the relentless pressures of a competitive marketplace – a marketplace where increased efficiencies, reduced costs, continual innovation and sustainable profit margins are all vital to its long-term business health.

RBB’s clients in the manufacturing sector benefit from our deep understanding of the many types of business challenges they face – from the ups and downs of a start-up, to the growing pains and transition issues of an established, mature company.

Our portfolio of skills and experience in business planning, operations, financial systems, taxation, auditing, compensation, valuation and M&A provide manufacturers with the right breadth of service to meet their needs today – and to thoroughly prepare for tomorrow.

Some of the specific ways we’ve helped our manufacturing business clients over the years include:

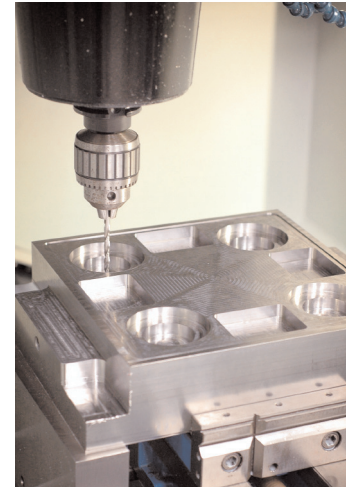

- Finding ways to minimize costs for healthcare and other benefits
- Identifying actual costs of entering a new market or market segment
- Preparing management contracts to withstand regulatory scrutiny
- Providing training to internal accounting department personnel
- Setting up more efficient manufacturing cost reporting systems
- Counseling on GAAP departure exceptions, SFAS 123R stock options and FIN 46R consolidation requirements
- Conducting valuation studies for buy-sell and family transition matters
- Devising funding strategies using traditional and non-traditional resources

But that’s only a part of the story. For a more specific description of these and other accomplishments on behalf of our manufacturing clients, please call:

William F. Rucci, Jr., CPA, MST or Mark P. Paquin, CPA, MST at 781.321.6065.
